

Why Hire A CPP?

The Certified Protection Professional (CPP®) is the preeminent designation awarded to individuals whose primary responsibilities are in security management and who have demonstrated advanced knowledge in security solutions and best business practices.

CPP applicants must have either (a) Nine years of security experience, with at least three of those years in responsible charge of a security function; or (b) Bachelor's degree and seven years of experience, with at least three of those years in responsible charge of a security function.

A written examination includes questions regarding: Security Principles and Practices, Business Principles and Practices, Investigations, Personnel Security, Physical Security, Information Security, Crisis Management and Legal Aspects.

The American Society for Industrial Security (ASIS) certifies CPPs and is the preeminent organization for security professionals, with more than 38,000 members worldwide. Founded in 1955, ASIS is dedicated to increasing the effectiveness and productivity of security professionals by developing educational programs and materials that address broad security interests. ASIS also advocates the role and value of the security management profession to business, the media, government entities, and the public.
